MOSCOW (AP)—Ten ambassadors drove 66 miles southwest of Moscow Tuesday on an unprecedented visit to the Soviet Union's pioneer atomic energy station.

Included in the group were envoys of Britain, the United States, Sweden, Burma, Mexico, Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania and North Viet Nam.

The atomic energy station is housed in a light yellow structure building with one high smokestack, located in a flat rural countryside of fields and woods about a half mile from the village of Obninskoye.

The Russians say the two-story structure is the world's first power plant devoted to peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Clerical Cabbie Reforms Bandit

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A minister who drives a cab nights talked a would-be holdup man into surrendering early Tuesday.

An injunction to stop the provincial government from flooding the shores of beautiful Buttle lake is being sought by Eric Charman, employee of a Victoria mortgage company.

The B.C. Power Commission has already embarked on plans to dam the outlet of Upper Campbell lake and make a vast storage reservoir of Upper Campbell and Buttle lakes to provide water power for Campbell River hydro-electric generators.

Shores of Buttle lake in Strathcona park would be logged off and flooded 19 feet above the present water level.

Mr. Charman said Jack Gatehouse, a city lawyer, has been instructed to work out preliminary steps of the injunction action "to bring restraint on the government from proceeding with the proposed desecration of the area."

Mr. Charman explained he is not against progress. He said the question of securing sources of power is a separate one "and there are several answers which can be produced."

WITH PRINCIPLES

"At this time we must concern ourselves with principles," he said.

"A former government of this province had the wisdom and foresight to decree that Buttle lake, in view of its wealth of natural amenities, should be preserved for the people, and the present legislators propose, perhaps unwittingly, to destroy this outstanding natural asset," he said.

"We do not underestimate the powers of the premier but we have faith in the powers of the courts," he added.

"It has been intimated at government levels that it is too late to do anything," he said. "I feel that we, as citizens of this province and the nation as a whole, should stand for our rights and insist that the channels of justice and democracy shall be pursued."

AT OWN EXPENSE

He flew to Buttle lake at his own expense to see how the proposed development would affect Strathcona park, spurred by recent publicity over the issue.

"I was amazed when I saw the beauty of Buttle lake which is quite beyond description," he stated.

He said the first thing he asked himself was why the public had been denied access to Buttle, and added that it seemed fantastic that one should require a permit from a private logging company in order to travel by road to the public park.

"I am quite convinced," he said, "that had the public been able to enjoy Buttle lake since 1911 when it was made a park by act of the legislature there would be an absolute uproar in this province now at the proposed desecration of the area."

REALIZE DUTY

"I am also of the opinion that should the members of the legislative assembly visit Buttle lake they would realize their duty to provide adequate access to it at the earliest possible date rather than destroy it."

"There is every possibility another person may make the injunction application for me as I would not be able to spare many days in court in the event of our application proving successful," he explained.

"I and many others feel that if we can possibly take the matter to the courts, even if our case failed, we would have at least checked the possibility of such a dangerous precedent being set, whereby legislators have used provisions contained in one or two minor statutes to defeat the purpose of a very important piece of legislation."

Mr. Charman said Mr. Gatehouse had advised him that this "important matter" has never been properly discussed and decided upon by the members as a whole in the present legislative assembly of British Columbia.

INFLUENTIAL CITIZENS

Within a few hours after he indicated yesterday that he planned injunction proceedings, Mr. Charman said:

"I had more than 30 phone calls from Island and Vancouver people, some of them very influential citizens, and there is every possibility the matter will come before the courts."

Immigration Policies Attacked As 'Pro-Catholic, Anti-British'

Synod Would Seek Settlers from Britain

EDMONTON (CP)—Canada's immigration policy was described Tuesday at the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada as "anti-Protestant, anti-British and pro-Roman Catholic."

The statement was made in a discussion of immigration policy by lay delegate Col. T. A. Kidd of Kingston, Ont. He said two of every three persons who came to Canada were not British.

Col. Kidd added that about 250,000 persons leave Britain annually and of these only 50,000 come to Canada. The balance emigrated to South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. He urged an assistance policy to induce more Britons to come to this country.

Synod adopted a resolution requesting the federal government to provide more adequate planning for immigrants, financial assistance and to allow a greater number of immigrants from the British West Indies.

The resolution said the synod was "firmly of the opinion that a continued generous policy of immigration is both wise and necessary."

The resolution urged the federal government to strengthen the appeal to prospective settlers by "instituting more adequate planning" for their reception at ports of entry and their absorption in industry.

Canon W. W. Judd, retiring general secretary of the church's council for social services, in introducing the motion said "a great many immigrants are not adequately looked after by employment agencies."

The resolution also recommended that "specific measures of assistance"

'I'll Resign if Figures on Debt Proved Wrong,' Premier Says

BY RAY BAINES

Colonist Staff Reporter

BRALORNE — Premier W. A. C. Bennett promised voters last night he would resign as premier if the government's debt figures could be proved wrong.

Speaking at a meeting in this mountainside mining town to 110 people, the premier told his audience the government had reduced the net debt by $13,000,000 and it has $22,000,000 more in its sinking fund.

"If any person can challenge these figures I will resign as premier," he said.

STARTS TOUR

The premier last night started his week-long speaking tour to help elect Don Robinson, Social Credit candidate, in the Lillooet by-election.

Mr. Robinson is a PGE engineer now on leave of absence. The government received only 25 first count votes out of some 400 in Bralorne in the last general election.

The premier called on the voters to elect the Social Credit candidate on the strength of the government's record and to help the Lillooet riding which he called "the most forgotten constituency in B.C."

Penfold Repeats 'Gang-Up' Claim

Douglas K. Penfold, who resigned last week from the B.C. Public Utilities Commission, last night repeated his claim that former PUC chairman Percy George "ganged-up" on him after Mr. George denied the charge.

A commission member for 6 1/2 years, Mr. Penfold resigned because he had again been passed over as chairman of the group by the appointment of Dean Henry F. Angus and because nothing had been done about an investigation into the commission that he had requested.

Mr. Penfold said Mr. George, who resigned as chairman July 8 because of health reasons, "ganged-up" with R. E. Potter, the other commissioner, against him.

He claimed that the reversal of the PUC's decision to grant the B.C. Electric a rate increase in Vancouver public transport fares was partly because of Mr. George's handling of hearings on the subject.

Denying the charges yesterday, Mr. George said he was "very much surprised" at Mr. Penfold's statements.

"My conscience is quite clear," he added. "I have done my job." Mr. Penfold last night declined comment on the ex-chairman's remarks "until I get to see what he has to say."

Vancouver Island Network

PAST construction with present plans for highway building on Vancouver Island seem to promise a much better degree of access to the southern half of the territory than ever has been in prospect before. There is in particular some assurance that West Coast points will witness an opening up of access roads within the next five years, with important consequences to the Island economically and in every other way. It is not too early, however, to think about the rest of it. Vancouver Island north of the Alberni Canal contains a lake district of tremendous scenic potential, and to the north again a very considerable area of wholly virgin territory.

It is the northern region, the top third of the Island as one looks at the map, that has remained the least known and the most neglected. A pioneer prospector who knows that territory well, Mr. Frank M. Kelley, is attracting thoughtful attention to what he has long been advocating in that connection. Briefly he suggests a main, trunk route be opened from the lake district to the northern end of Vancouver Island. The terrain would seem to permit of that, and from such a backbone route, or stem, could be drawn off east and west lateral roads to serve each coast of the Island. Developing this theme in a series of articles in the Sunday magazine section of the Colonist, Mr. Kelley has made proposals as to a route and setting for a linking highway. He has shown that the northern third of the Island contains a good deal more than scenery, and has practical advantages for a much larger degree of settlement than pertains at present under conditions of limited access.

Since the future of Vancouver Island must be bound up with an expanding population and the natural advantages of the terrain, it is high time that some serious thought was given to its development as a whole. A highway plan for the Island should envision all of the territory, integrated into one common system of roads. There are many reasons why a trunk-road system may eventually prove of great importance in that development, lower costs among them. Had that course been followed south of the Alberni Canal the economic development of the area could have come much sooner and more intensively than it has done.

Recent years and the press of new settlement have forced the pace, and it is time not only to widen our thinking but also to seek a clearer picture of what plan—carried out stage by stage over a term of years—would best open up all of Vancouver Island and do away with the spot-by-spot development of its first century. It cannot always be "timber" on Vancouver Island. The day will come when all of our resources will have to be taken into account, and in that day good roads on a sound plan will be a necessity.

Imports from U.K. Declining

BRITISH exports to Canada during the past three years have fallen off seriously enough to cause deep concern to the United Kingdom authorities. Anxiety is aggravated by the fact that the drop in sales to this country does not reflect a general decline in Canadian imports. Purchases by the Dominion from the United States are now back to approximately the 1953 level after falling sharply last year, and imports from Germany have been rising steadily. British exports to Canada, on the other hand, are even lower this year than they were last.

Sir Archibald Nye, the British high commissioner in Canada, has been looking into the situation, and his conclusions are that the reasons for the U.S. advantage over the U.K. in trade with Canada are threefold: the nearness of America, high-pressure American selling, and slowness of British deliveries.

About the geographical advantage there is nothing the U.K. exporters can do. About salesmanship methods there may be room for changes in British strategy, though it would take time to break down the long ingrained British reserve to the point where sales psychology and promotion could match the campaigns of United States manufacturers with their enormous advertising accounts.

In the matter of deliveries, however, there is something that United Kingdom exporters could and should do immediately if they value the Canadian dollar market, which because of Commonwealth affiliations ought to be easier for them than the dollar market of the United States. In numerous lines British goods have long been noted for superiority, and in several the manufacturers have shown themselves to be ahead of foreign competition in design. Delivery, however, in many instances is shockingly slow—so much so in fact as to create an impression that the exporters at fault do not seem to care very much whether they sell to Canada or not. Not only that but business correspondence at the U.K. end appears to be loosely handled, with the time element treated as of little importance. Despite the quickness of airmail service, orders and inquiries are often left unanswered far too long.

It may be that some British industries do not yet appreciate the tempo of this country. If that is so vigorous efforts should be made by their own authorities to enlighten them. Like their neighbors to the south, Canadian buyers are irked by apparent inefficiency and do not like to be kept waiting.

A Feat Worth Repeating

VANCOUVER Islanders are entitled to take a bow for the steady performance they turned in over the three-day holiday period including Labor Day. Although thousands of cars were on the roads, there were no fatalities, no serious injuries, while only four minor accidents of any nature were reported to the RCMP. That from one of the biggest turnouts on the highways of the current year is a most encouraging showing. We hope that it will be repeated not only on the next comparable occasion, but progressively through the remaining months of this year.

It is likewise encouraging to note that travel otherwise was also free from major incident. Thousands of people went by boat, plane and train in connection with the Labor Day holiday, without delay and without harm. Specially stepped-up airlines service between Vancouver Island and the Mainland proved one of the features of the period, with planes carrying capacity loads both ways.

So, given reasonable public care, it can be done. Fatalities and grievous bodily harm do not have to be the concomitant of public holidays. The result is that the public enjoys itself, and that no one is left to suffer or be the worse for what should be a wholly pleasurable occasion. If the same care is exercised by the public on future week-ends, there is no reason why Vancouver Island as a whole should not turn in an exceptionally steady showing between now and the end of the year. Common sense pays off.

Interpreting the News

An Odd Pattern

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THERE is something odd about the way the Chinese Communists are handling the release of American citizens.

The pattern seems to be clear enough, but the reasons for it obscure.

First they released American military personnel who had not been accused of crimes, then those who had been convicted. Now they are releasing civilians in the same order.

Yet the Reds are represented as anxious to get around to an entirely different field of discussions at Geneva, involving the broad issues of conflict between Peking and Washington. If this is true, why do they not go ahead and release all the Americans, or all they intend to, and get down to business?

Various speculative answers have been offered, but the Communists give no real clues themselves. One objective may be to establish an almost interminable pattern for all talks in which the Reds engage, as in the Korean truce negotiations. This gives them a background for long talks, without action, in the expected negotiations on reduction of tensions.

This would fit in with the theory, held by many if not most experts, that international communism, having been forced by the threat of extinction to turn away from force as a weapon of expansion, now wants time to develop a new war of neutralization and infiltration.

To get this time, and to produce an atmosphere of relaxation among their opponents, the Communists may realize that they are going to have to make, or seem to make, further concessions.

In such a program, the time they can put between concessions might be important.

Reports from Ottawa

LOOKING at the sixfold increase that has taken place in consumer credit since 1945, the Bank of Montreal in its August business review sheds new light on what it terms "this important and only partially explored feature of the Canadian economy."

"So long as family incomes continue to rise," says the Bank of Montreal, "the current level of consumer indebtedness may not prove particularly burdensome."

But, the review cautions, "there is no acceptable guarantee that the upward trend of income will progress uninterruptedly and ad infinitum. And it cannot be denied that an economy whose continued growth is in any significant degree dependent upon a continually enlarging structure of credit is open to a sharp setback should there be a shrinkage in the flow of income on the basis of which credit is granted."

The bank says that, while there are long-term forces at work to produce and justify an expansion of consumer credit, there is always the danger that too rapid a growth in the short-run may subsequently involve painful consolidation.

"There is thus the responsibility, which must be borne not only by the monetary authorities but also by those who borrow and those who lend, of exercising discretion lest the consumer becomes over-extended in his eagerness to borrow in order to buy."

The review observes that the value of consumer credit outstanding has increased more than sixfold since 1945 and is now very close to $2 billions. "A rise of this magnitude during a period when the annual value of retail trade has not quite trebled has been regarded with uneasiness by some observers as an element of potential instability. By others, however, it has been viewed as a natural outcome of the improvement in living standards; an outcome, more particularly, of the phenomenal growth of the so-called 'middle income' groups."

According to the Bank of Montreal review, the largest and probably the most controversial increase has been that of the installment paper. Such paper, says the bank, is usually associated with the sale of durable consumer goods, notably automobiles, and terms vary from the "dollar down, dollar a week" variety to the one-third minimum cash payment and two-year repayment-period for a new automobile.

"But," says the Bank of Montreal, "the net effect is the same—to bring within the purchasing ability of the consumer an article that would not otherwise be purchased until some time in the future, if at all."

A U.S. study has revealed that of the family units with installment debt outstanding only 16 per cent appeared to be overburdened. In that they had an annual income of less than $4,000 and had incurred payments amounting to more than a fifth of their earnings.

"In the absence of information to the contrary," says the bank, "it is not unreasonable to assume that these findings in the United States are broadly indicative of the situation in Canada. By and large, lending institutions and retail outlets assure themselves that the borrower has the ability to repay his loan within the time specified."

The review points out that, in terms of 1951 purchasing power, the proportion of Canadian families earning from $3,000 to $10,000 annually in wages and salaries rose from 26 per cent in 1931, to 50 per cent in 1951.

THE mystery of the disappearing caribou is no mystery. Northern experts have been warning for years that the great caribou herds were following the buffalo herds on the trail to oblivion.

Trouble was that those in Ottawa who cared didn't matter, and those who mattered didn't care. Well, not much, anyway. Not enough to stop the fur companies from selling repeating rifles to Eskimos, which according to experts I've talked to is the main cause of the depletion of this great natural resource.

Dr. A. E. Forslid, Arctic botanist, told me that "An Eskimo with a repeating rifle reacts like a moron at the wheel of a high powered car."

Scott Alexander, Arctic expert and former Mountie, tells of having seen young Eskimos race their dog teams alongside herds of caribou and fire indiscriminately into the massed animals, wounding many which later died.

Both these men, and other experts too, have urged government action to limit Eskimos to single-shot rifles, as in Greenland, so that the natives would have to make every shot count. This suggestion was consistently brushed aside. Now, with a repeater in practically every tent and igloo in the Arctic, it may be too late.

It's been estimated that in 1900 there were up to 1,750,000 caribou. Fifty years later there were 670,000, a reduction of 62 per cent. Today there are about 300,000—a drop of more than 50 per cent in five years. In 1936 Alexander saw a herd of 27 miles wide, which took three days to pass by. Such a sight may never be seen again. In 1950 Dr. A. F. W. Bannfield of the Wildlife Service counted 358,881 caribou in flying 36,298 miles. This spring J. P. Kelsall of the Wildlife Service flew over 38,145 miles, mainly in the Mackenzie District, and saw about 15,000 caribou.

The whole history of the decline indicates the repeating rifle. In the early 1900s white whalers killed immense numbers. Then the Eskimos increased their dog teams so they could make long journeys to trap furs. And the more dogs, the more caribou it takes to feed them. The repeating rifle was the answer.

"Hunters usually kill as many animals as possible, and all meat not immediately required is cached, although the hunter may never return to the cache," The Polar Record reported in 1952. "Very little attempt is made to pursue wounded caribou."

At this rate, how long will 300,000 caribou last? In one survey year it was found that 15,717 Eskimos, Indians and others killed 92,566 caribou. This is a toll which 300,000 animals cannot long survive, for the annual production of calves is only about 21.1 per cent. Fewer grow to maturity.

The anguished and agitated Wildlife Service recommends cold storage plants, stiffer conservation laws, patrols to teach and enforce conservation, organized wolf hunting, and greatly intensified scientific study.

This will cost money, a lot of money. How much simpler to lift every repeater in the territories, and replace them with single-shot weapons. Ah, but Eskimos are Canadian citizens. How'd you like the government to take your car and give you a bicycle, to reduce the slaughter on the highways?

Vanishing Privacy

By GREGORY CLARK

IN a big business office which I visited recently only the general manager has a private room. All the rest of the staff, and there must be sixty or seventy of them on the one floor, including assistant general managers and all manner of big shots in the business, occupy desks in full view in the wide open expanses of the general office.

Some of these senior men have larger desks than the general run of the employees. But they are all the same color, a sort of metallic grey. Each desk has identical tidy baskets for correspondence. Some have telephones.

The whole broad scene is one of quiet and orderly industry. Nobody is leaning on anybody else's desk. What slight murmurs you hear are like the undertones you might detect in the reading room of the public library. Just a faint shuffling, and the subdued, muffled of noiseless or electric typewriters. The ceilings are buff, and insulated with soundproofing tiles. The walls are greenish grey, like the desks. The floors are battle-ship grey. I am told a million dollars worth of business often passes through this spacious office in a day. But it gives me the willies. Nothing in human nature justifies such surroundings. Man may be a social animal, as is often admitted, though there is so much to deny it, lately. But he is still a secretive animal in considerable need of privacy.

Probably 90 per cent of the men and women in that vast, open, naked office are the grandchildren or great-grandchildren of farmers—if they are Canadian—who worked their fields in spacious privacy and took their time and dawdled when they felt like it, or leaned on the fence to chat with passers-by along the dirt road. Some of course may be the descendants of the English who got caught, for a century or so, in that industrial revolution in which human beings worked in similar surroundings to the modern office set-up, for 12 and 14 hours a day in open mills under the eye of slave drivers. But it seems to me human nature does not authorize the adoption of the principles of ant nature, or even of the machine.

When I was a young fellow we all worked in small offices and cubicles, in which we could leave a spare hat and coat hanging on the nail so that if anybody in authority came looking for us, they would know, from the spare hat and coat hanging there, that we were somewhere about the premises.

Of course, we were not.

The Division Of Germany

NO ONE can contradict President Eisenhower's statement before the American Bar Association that "many cannot be supported by any arguments based on boundaries, or language, or racial origins."

Such considerations did not, however, enter into the Yalta decisions when dismemberment was specifically provided for by the Big Three.

The Yalta papers record no opposition from the United States.

Stalin, to be sure, pressed the issue, but President Roosevelt heartily concurred. Neither in the partition of Germany nor in the partition of Poland to the benefit of the U.S.S.R. and at the expense of Germany, which was also confirmed at Yalta, did natural "boundaries, or language, or racial origins," enter into the discussion.

The justification advanced for German dismemberment was security—the military danger that might arise in the future from a united German nation.

That a Germany divided between great powers might create the even more formidable danger of a conflict between them, by contributing to the ultimate subjugation of Germany by her nearest and most powerful neighbor, or encouraging the renaissance of that very military spirit that partition aimed to avoid, was not, apparently, foreseen by the American president. And those who ventured to criticize the decisions on these grounds (when they finally were made public much later) found themselves in a small but unpopular minority in this country.

The processes of history are not easily reversible. Belated appeal to principles is no substitute for their application at decisive historical moments.

But even now, when neglected principles are belatedly asserted, they are not applied equally.

When the president decried the division of Germany it was assumed by most of his listeners, and perhaps by himself, that he spoke of the division between Western and Eastern Germany.

But there is also a division between West and West.

The Saar has been detached from Germany, and this also "cannot be supported by any arguments based on boundaries, or language, or racial origins."

The Saar is as German as the Rhineland or Bavaria or Saxony. Here not even security is the predominant consideration. The Saar is an industrial region rich in basic raw materials which France wants. The government of the "autonomous" Saar, headed by Premier Johannes Hoffmann, is no less a stooge of France than the East European governments are stooges of Russia, and like them it has suppressed civil liberties.

In October, by agreement between the French and the West German governments, the Saar population will vote whether or not to vest their foreign affairs and defence in the West European Union, while confirming France's economic control of the region.

Were the West European Union a working fact, the foreign affairs, defence, and economic controls of all Europe would be vested in it. But meanwhile the Saar is—and if the plebiscite confirms the statute will continue to be—divided politically from the rest of Germany and controlled economically by France. Never has external economic control been compatible with political autonomy.

The inhabitants of the Saar are being asked to accept this status for the sake of peace between the West German Federal Republic and France.

But having been given just enough freedom to vote yes or no on the Saar statute, and listen to arguments pro and con, they are increasingly in open revolt.

The campaign is less directed against the Saar statute, even, than against the Hoffmann stooge government, and even against the West German government and the Christian Democratic Party who have reprimanded the pro-Germans. The uproar occasioned by the militant nationalism of these appalling American editors. The unionists are actually more militantly nationalist than the West Germans themselves!

We can only ask: What did anyone expect?

And what principle involving the division of Germany is applicable in the East and not in the West?

Letters to the Editor

"Silent Zone"

With reference to the so-called "silent zone" at Race Rocks and the letter from Ronald M. Angus on the subject: It is unfortunate that the impression is being given that there exists in the vicinity of Race Rocks a condition which constitutes a danger to navigation. Mr. Angus concluded his letter with the statement that "Indeed there is a silent zone at that spot."

Evidently he is unaware that as long ago as 1934 the existence of such a zone was entirely disproved, and the cause of the inaudibility of the fog horn ascertained. It is true that the fog horn could not be heard within a certain small sector, which was found to be due to the fact that it was screened, or shut off, by a large rock and a small building housing the power plant.

In consequence of complaints received by the Vancouver Chamber of Shipping from masters of incoming deep-sea vessels regarding the inaudibility in certain conditions, resulting in two ships having stranded, the Department of Marine was asked to investigate. The Dominion hydrographer, the late H. D. Parizeau, Colonel Wilby, agent of the department, and E. J. Haughton, superintendent of radiotelegraphs, after an on-the-spot investigation, reported that the difficulty could be cleared up if the fog horn were raised 30 feet. This was done, and the trouble was overcome, the fog horn being heard thereafter through the entire arc. No stranding has been reported since, nor complaints of inaudibility.

The term "silent zone" is properly applied to a natural phenomenon well-known and occurring in several places. The principal cause is the echo or reflection of the sound waves of the fog signal by cliffs or other obstruction to landward. In some cases the echo waves cancel, or greatly reduce, the sound waves emanating from the fog signal within a limited sector and for a short distance. Various devices have been adopted to overcome this difficulty, and special types of diaphones have in most cases proved effective.

But the so-called silent zone formerly at Race Rocks was due simply to the small building being in the way, shutting off the sound from the sector it covered. It is no longer a menace and should not be cited as such.

Nothing Changed

The change of name of the Church of England in Canada to the "Anglican Church of Canada" has excited some interest, and, among a few, some opposition.

It does not signify any break whatever with the "mother Church of England." We continue to maintain exactly the same doctrine and morals; just as the revised Prayer Book will contain the same essential rites and usages of the last four centuries.

The old title of a century ago, was the "United Church of England and Ireland." That was changed in 1893, when the general synod was established, out it was then declared that the church would hold to the same principles, etc., as were held and taught down through the centuries. Nothing is being added or taken away.

The church was called, in the Great Charter, Ecclesia Anglicana, "Church of, or belonging to, the English." The term "Anglican" has come into general use. The "Anglican Communion" (sic) consists of a dozen churches in as many nations, including the United States, under various names, all in the fullest communion with one another, but on equal terms. We wish to encourage all Canadians, of whatever origin, to feel that our door is open to them all.

Mental Growth

Recently Rev. William Hills looked "into the matter of human rights." He will not, I trust, take offence at some of his remarks being used in an attempt to draw attention to human needs.

Is not the greatest need that of mental growth? That it may occur at all ages surely it is essential always to remember that by whatever names, titles, labels, individuals are indicated they are humans with the same basic needs.

I like to think that in the last paragraph of his column Mr. Hills was striving to open the eyes of those who insist on putting themselves behind a barrier built of their likes or dislikes, their prejudices or beliefs and so prevent their minds from growing.

Irreparable Harm

Is democracy all over the world becoming a diminishing quantity? One had hoped it was not so in Canada, but it is surely a little disturbing to find a supposedly democratic government flouting public opinion—except that of the water controller who appears to have more power than is good for him—in so cool and high-handed a fashion that it is possible for one man, of little vision, dressed in a little brief authority, to consent to the destruction of something that belongs to the people.

The government that gave Strathecona park to the people did not foresee Mr. Bennett and his "Scorched government," nor divine that we should ever have a premier so indifferent to the beauty and natural grandeur of B.C. that, at the bidding of money and big business, he would consent to their ravishment.

If we now can do nothing more to save our own, confronted as we are with Mr. Bennett's determination to destroy it, let us at least remember the irreparable harm this is doing to us, and to the things that belong to us. And so remembering, we may at least escape a repetition of this outrageous and incredible vandalism.

But How?

Save Butte Lake, theme of numerous letters to your paper, brings up the question "How?" in many minds.

Are there not some astute lawyers, businessmen and even politicians—bold "enough" and public-spirited enough to advise the public on how they can safeguard this property which is rightfully theirs?

Given the necessary ammunition, the army of loyal supporters which could be raised should be able to win the Battle of Butte Lake and at the same time strike a blow for our democratic way of life.

Even among the seemingly apathetic there are many waiting uneasily to be shown the way, for it is not only the issue of Butte Lake at stake, but the prevention of further high-handed encroachments upon the people's rights.

Your newspaper has led the way, bringing into the battle the powerful weapon of public opinion. Now is the time for allies to declare themselves and produce any weapons they deem may be of value.

Seeds to England

In June, 1954, when I was in Victoria, B.C., as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Clark of 1983 Cochrane, I wrote to Mr. Chesnut for a free sample of Sweetheart lettuce seeds. I brought the seeds back to England and I thought you might like to know the result.

I could not follow the instructions as to cultivation, as the land here is a very heavy clay soil. I sowed the seeds in a seed pan and reared them in the house, not having a green house, then prepared a piece of land, inserting plenty of hop manure.

The result is that I have had a real good crop of tender and well hearted large lettuces. One point of merit is that the plants have stood up to an exceptional hot period and have never shown any signs of bolting.

Germany Faces Labor Shortage

BONN (Reuters) — West German market shares in 1954 had been only 4.77 per cent.

many has nearly exhausted the labor reserve which helped make possible the post-war "German miracle," according to an official estimate released Tuesday.

As signs of economic difficulties clouded the federal labor exchange said that the number of unemployed last month was 312,353—lowest figure since the 1948 currency reform put the country back on its feet.

The exchange said the number of unemployed is sure to drop further through September and October, with the figure of 450,000 as rock bottom. Those would be the unemployed and workers between jobs.

On the office's estimate, there are just over 52,000 persons who can still be found jobs—and this before the country has seriously started producing for rearmament or raising the 500,000-strong armed forces envisaged.

EXPANSION MADE EASY

A reservoir of unemployment helped make possible the rapid recovery of West Germany, by enabling employers to expand their businesses and making workers less inclined to haggle with their employers' over wages, or hours.

Much overtime still is being worked and the unions' demand that the work week be reduced from 48 to 40 hours has not assumed the features of a full-scale campaign.

But wholesale cancellations of collective bargaining contracts and a few unofficial strikes have shown that the hitherto patient West German working force is growing restive.

Union leaders claim the economy is threatened not by wage demands but by excessive profits.

The German Industry Institute in Cologne denied this, saying that the average dividend on stock

Antonelli Suspended After Tiff; Snead Clinches Ryder Cup Berth

Johnny Antonelli, New York Giants ace left-hander, was under indefinite suspension without pay yesterday following a run-in with manager Leo Durocher in the mid-Saturday night.

Durocher, reached by telephone late Sunday night, indicated the breach was a serious one. Asked whether Antonelli would be reinstated if he were to apologize for his actions, the Giant skipper said: "I won't answer that. All I'll say right now is he'd better change his attitude. I've had enough of his nonsense."

Antonelli was suspended when he put on a display of temper on the mound when taken out of the game, then complained to Durocher about "being mishandled" and threatened to "go back home and stay there."

The 27-year-old pitcher, a 21-game winner and world series star last season, has been a big disappointment this season. He has an 11-15 record with 10 complete games in 31 starts and owns a 4.46 earned run average.

SNEAD WINS: Sammy Snead fired his fourth consecutive sub-par round Monday to win the $20,000 Insurance City open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 289 and clinch a berth for the fifth time on the U.S. Ryder Cup team. ## Big Four Clubs Tied; Ti-Cats Thump Argos

HOW THEY STAND

Team	W	L	T	P	A	Pts
Montreal	1	1	0	0	0	2
Hamilton	1	1	0	0	0	2
Toronto	1	1	0	0	0	2
Ottawa	1	1	0	0	0	2

Monday's scores: Toronto 12 at Hamilton 10; Montreal 18 at Ottawa 10; Winnipeg 24 at Regina 10; Saskatchewan 13 at Edmonton 10.

The four clubs in the Big Four Football Union are right back where they started today after Saturday and Monday home-and-home games that put them level in the standings and indicated that it's going to be a much closer battle for the league title than last season.

Ottawa Rough Riders, who won only two games during a dismal season last year, weathered a sometimes erratic Montreal Alouettes drive in the last half Monday night to win their home opener, 19-18, before a crowd of more than 16,000.

And Hamilton Tiger-Cats mauled Toronto Argonauts 37-12 Monday afternoon before a wildly cheering, home-town crowd of 18,628—second largest to watch a game in the city's colorful football history.

Ti-Cats, humiliated by Argonauts 31-6 in Toronto on Saturday, showed what a difference 24 hours can make to a club.

DUBLINSKY SMOTHERED
Led by quarterback Carl Garrigue, University of Miami star playing his first season in Canada, the Ti-Cats pulverized Toronto's running attack and smothered the aerial blitz of Tom Dublinsky, who had a field day against Hamilton on Saturday.

The former Detroit Lion quarterback, who didn't need to play long enough Saturday to get his uniform soiled, was repeatedly smothered for sizeable losses. Time and again he was chased out of the pocket and hurried into poor passes.

McElroy Gets Three
Bucky McElroy barged through for three Hamilton touchdowns and Garrigue, taking over from Nobby Wirkowski, scored on a brilliant 30-yard run. Ralph Toohy and Hal Wagner completed the touchdown parade, reliable Tip Logan converted all six and Cam Fraser converted the extra point in the third quarter.

The revamped Rough Riders displayed a strong pass defence against Sam Etcheverry of Alouettes, who attempted 42 passes and saw six of them intercepted by Ottawa. Alouettes completed 25 passes but most of them went for short gains.

Montreal, still suffering from the absence of Alex Webster, last year's league scoring champion now with the New York Giants, and the injured Chuck Hunsinger, looked better on the ground than they did Saturday. Import halfbacks Pat Abbruzzi and Emil Radik and fullback John Anderson ripped off constant yardage through the big Ottawa line.

But when Etcheverry switched to his long passes, the Riders came up with frequent interceptions to halt Montreal marches. The six passes picked off by the Ottawa defence marked the worst day of the former Denver University star has experienced in three years of Canadian football.

LONG GALLOP
Riders' three touchdowns were divided among Bobby Simpson, half Don Pinney and Tennessee fullback Tom Tracy.

Tracy, who converted one touchdown and kicked a 20-yard field goal, ran 75 yards from scrimmage for his touchdown at the start of the second half to give Ottawa a commanding 19-6 lead.

Import end Hal Patterson caught two touchdowns passes from Etcheverry and Joey Paul nabbed one for the defending champion Alouettes, who dropped only two games last season. Bill Bevelly converted one and Etcheverry two.

Victoria Sprinters Place In Dominion Track Meet

Sue Burnett of Victoria, running for the Deans Track Club, placed in two events Monday as the two-day Canadian Interprovincial track and field championships wound up at Toronto. Miss Burnett, the British Columbia junior sprint champion, finished second behind Diane Matheson of Moncton in the 100 yards women's open event and was third in the 300 yards women's closed. Rafael Duke, the other Victoria runner competing in the meet, finished third in the men's 100-yard event on Saturday.

Wes Santee, whose ambition is to break through the four-minute barrier for the mile, won his specialty Monday in the low time of 4:06.6. Santee's time was a meet record but was two seconds slower than the Canadian native record of 4:04.6 set by Rich Ferguson of Toronto in the 1954 British Empire Games.

Arnie Sowell of the University of Pittsburgh and holder of the world's 880-yard record, set his own pace to win in 1:55.4.

Lions Edge Battered Roughies To Gain Tie for Second Place

HOW THEY STAND

Team	W	L	T	P	A	Pts
Edmonton	4	0	0	0	0	8
Saskatchewan	3	1	0	0	0	6
B.C.	2	1	0	0	0	4
Calgary	2	1	0	0	0	4
Winnipeg	1	2	0	0	0	2

British Columbia Lions came from behind at Regina Monday with two touchdowns to tie the Winnipeg Roughies, 13-13. Carpenter also scored three touchdowns.

AGUIRRE BACK
End Joe Aguirre kicked two field goals and two converts. Aguirre, who topped the WIFU rough to eclipse a sensational three-touchdown performance by half-back Kenny Carpenter and down the battered Saskatchewan Roughriders 24-23 before a record Taylor field crowd of 16,052.

Calgary Stampeders were also forced to stage a fourth-quarter rally, scoring two converted touchdowns after being blanked for three quarters to down the hapless Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 12-9, at Calgary. It was the Stamps' second win of the season—both coming at the expense of the Bombers, who have dropped five straight decisions.

Lions, who won only one game last season in their Western Interprovincial Football Union debut, chalked up their third victory of the season, their second in three days, and moved into a second-place tie with the injury-riddled Roughies.

DEADLY PASSING
Quarterbacks Arnie Galiffa of Lions and Frank Tripucka of the Roughies staged a thrilling display of deadly passing as Lions made 284 yards through the air, only 42 yards more than the Saskatchewan club.

Two of Galiffa's long passes were good for touchdowns by end Sam Adams. Lions' other points came on Al Pollard's first quarter touchdown and his three converts.

Carpenter, leading the WIFU in touchdowns with nine and threatening to make a runaway of the scoring race, counted his trio in the second quarter, two of them on passes from Tripucka. In the first meeting between the clubs, won by the Roughies, 19-13, Carpenter also scored three touchdowns.

Marco, built up a 23-11 lead before the Lions' great comeback. With the score deadlocked at 23-23, Galiffa, careful not to pass, moved Lions to the 36 before Chapman booted the winning point.

Galiffa well on his way to setting a WIFU passing record, completed 16 of 21 passes and led his club 105 yards along the ground. Lions picked up 20 first downs while Regina gained 18.

At Calgary, the Stampeders' fourth-quarter drive was highlighted by the work of Don Klosterman and end Willie Roberts. The Calgary quarterback brought the fans to their feet when, on the first play of the quarter, he faked back and tossed a long pass which Roberts took on the Winnipeg scoring a touchdown, was brought back into the Saskatchewan lineup just before the game when it was disclosed that centre and line backer John Wozniak, playing his third season with the club, was out for the remainder of the schedule with a broken leg suffered against Edmonton Saturday.

Lion officials said last night that they expect a record Canadian football crowd of more than 30,000 to pack Empire Stadium in Vancouver to watch Saturday's crucial meeting between the undefeated Edmonton Eskimos and British Columbia.

FUMBLE HELPS
Safetyman Harry Lunn's fumble on Lions' third down kick with the wind gave Lions one of several good breaks. Ken Swallow grabbed the ball and ran over for the touchdown that tied the game. Al Pollard converted, then halfback Ron Adams was rouged on Vic Chapman's kick for the winning point.

The Roughies, who were also missing defensive end Gord Sturridge and halfbacks Pete Thogus and guard Mario De-

City Cricket XI Squares Series

Victoria's representative cricket side earned an even break in the annual intercity series with Vancouver by scoring a 12-run victory over the Mainlanders at Beacon Hill park Monday.

Victoria, which had dropped the opening game of the series at Vancouver earlier in the season, ran up a total of 88 runs, while batting first then dismissed Vancouver for 76 runs.

Team captain Bob Mainwaring and Ken Greenwood, who opened for Victoria, paced the winners at bat. Mainwaring rapped out a total of 20 runs and Greenwood added 16 runs.

Peter Darling and A. Darling, with 21 and 19 runs, respectively, paced the visiting batsmen.

ELLIS TAKES SIX
G. Ellis captured six Vancouver wickets while yielding 23 runs, in pacing the Victoria bowlers. R. Sheppard had the best figures for the losers, taking five wickets for 19 runs.

At Beacon Hill Sunday, a Winnipeg RCAF squad downed Five C's of the Victoria and District Cricket Association by 11 runs in an exhibition match.

The airmen scored 80 runs and the Five C's collected 69.

L. Wood topped Winnipeg batsmen as he ran up a score of 31 not out. Ken Greenwood batted up 40 runs for the C's. Jim Richards took three RCAF wickets for no runs to lead the bowlers.

Bays Lose Title Bid

Foul Bay lost out in its bid for the B.C. senior "B" lacrosse championship Monday when it dropped a 12-9 decision to Rossland Redmen in the deciding game of a best-of-three series at Rossland.

Rossland, in winning its second straight B.C. title, two games to one, staged a three-goal, fourth-quarter rally for the victory after Foul Bay had knotted the count at 9-9. Donnie Davis put the Redmen up, 10-9, at the 7:45 and Rossland drove in two insurance tallies while blanking the Bays.

Foul Bay, which evened the series at one game each with a 10-8 victory Saturday after losing Friday's opener, 13-5, trailed Rossland 6-4 at half time of the final game. However, the Victorians closed with a rush in the third quarter to tie the score at 9-9.

Jack Reid, Art Green and Norm Kowalyk handled the scoring for Victoria.

Tribute to Victor—Applauded by Mayor Forest Closure Rigid; No Relief Foreseen

Husky winner of the Labor Day two-mile swim from Elk lake to Beaver lake for 16-year-olds and under, Doug Dickie, 14, receives a kiss from Helen Simonsen, 15, first girl to complete the course. The youngsters received cups and all 43 competitors got gifts.

Mayor Claude Harrison appears here as though he's doing all the work, but he had two pretty young helpers in his red canoe when he led a flotilla of boats at the Elk lake-Beaver lake swim Labor Day.

No quick end was foreseen last night to the closure of Vancouver Island's tinder-dry forests that went into effect at midnight Monday.

In announcing the full forest closure, Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Simonsen said it could be expected to last at least a week unless there is a definite change in the weather pattern.

The weatherman held out no hope of a quick change in the weather pattern. Clouds that massed in the western sky yesterday afternoon, he said, represented only a drifting thunderstorm, and what the forest service was looking for was a real change in the weather that would give the forests a thorough wetting down.

Such a change he said appeared a long way off. The first storm came off the western end of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and "not coming this way," closing off the forest on the Vancouver Island coast in places where the forest is tinder-dry and brought about a forest fire in a hot area. The first day of the season for grass and grain.

Before the closure was ordered, the B.C. Forestry Association and MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. pointed for action in the woods and 21 logging camps closed voluntarily.

Only part of Vancouver Island exempt from the closure is the area north of Nanaimo river. Aerial patrol on the west coast and vigilance on the east coast.

The closure orders prohibit anyone entering any forested area to hunt, fish, or pick berries without first obtaining a written permit from a forest service officer. Officers can also supply exact information on the areas covered by the closure.

The closure suspends all logging, camping and burning permits, and prohibits logging, sawmilling, mining, construction, road-clearing and other industrial operations in the woods.

The regulations, however, do not prevent permanent residents or landowners in forest areas from having access to their property. They do not apply to persons traveling on public highways using provincial forest service campsites and picnic sites or fishing from boats if the boats do not land at any point but their starting point.

SITUATION GOOD
Despite the seriousness of the forest fire situation, the situation was good late yesterday. Of 100,000 acres of forest, only six were still burning. Two of these, at Metlakatla and on the Metchikan river, were being fought by eight patrolmen and six fire engines. However, a serious fire on the Metchikan river was being fought by eight patrolmen and six fire engines. However, a serious fire on the Metchikan river was being fought by eight patrolmen and six fire engines.

A one-year suspended sentence was imposed against T. L. Singh, convicted in Colwood of arson. He is a resident of the Colwood area and is employed by a local firm.

Benny Longman, 38, of the Colwood area, was charged with arson. He is a resident of the Colwood area and is employed by a local firm.

Ray Jones, 38, of the Colwood area, was charged with arson. He is a resident of the Colwood area and is employed by a local firm.

Art and Kathie Kiteley and Vincent J. and David J. Kiteley are charged with arson. They are residents of the Colwood area and are employed by a local firm.

Mrs. G. L. Servier, 38, of the Colwood area, was charged with arson. She is a resident of the Colwood area and is employed by a local firm.

Work is expected to take about six months. After that the remaining six miles will be built by the provincial government and MacMillan.

Starting New Service

Life began too late for James Owen Brown, 1235 Coventry, who yesterday drove the CPR's new Bird diesel car on a test run. After 16 years with the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway he has won the cushy job of driving the new diesel car which starts daily round trips to Courtenay on Monday, but he has only nine months to go until retirement. Pictured with him is CPR's district master mechanic, Arthur T. Reynolds. (See Page 16.)

Begin Island Tour

Famed Service Band Plays Here Next Week

The famed RCAF band from Edmonton will make two appearances in this area next week, but may have to cancel a third show because of a mild epidemic of chicken-pox at Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The band directed by E. L. D. Corcoran will be a Vancouver Island tour with a varied program in the Victoria Memorial Arena at 9 p.m. Sunday then will visit Veterans Hospital the next day.

Third performance was to be at the Solarium Tuesday but administrator J. S. Houtson said yesterday there was some doubt that the show could be held because the cramped children's hospital has been bothered by a mild epidemic of chicken-pox since mid-day.

Visitors have not been allowed at the Solarium since that time when as many as eight patients had chicken-pox at one time. However, a serious case of chicken-pox was reported yesterday.

Decision on whether the band will appear is to be made today. Members of the Solarium Junior League will take a vacation at the time of the concert in the arena which will include speeches by Mayor Wagner, Sir James Douglas, and Leroy Anderson.

So far this month even though the weather has been everything it is said in tourist pamphlets, no records have been set.

In fact at some time or other the temperature of every day of September has climbed into the 80s. For instance in 1913 Sept. 28 had a high of 83.

Must Speak Out

the cupidity of the people in the name of charity.

Gambling was a sin against self, he said, because it was selfish, because it perverted the noble instinct of adventure, and because it made a person a fool.

Gambling was a sin against society because it was destructive of home life, brotherhood, business and government. The very heart of gambling, Dr. James said, was gain at another person's loss.

Finally, he said, gambling was a sin against God because it violated God's laws of order and of love.

Community Consensus

Church Must Condemn Gambling, Cleric Says

"My very definite opinion is that this is not so. Man had to learn to gamble. He's no more a natural gambler than a natural football player or natural golfer."

Man had been gambling for a long time, he acknowledged, but "men have been fighting, stealing and murdering for a long time, but that does not mean to fight, steal and murder is right."

Dr. James said people often claimed that life itself was a gamble.

This is simply not so. We take a risk, but there's a big difference between taking a risk and gambling.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the amazing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctor's observations were made over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that differences were not noticeable, in astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this without the use of narcotics, anaesthetics or treatments of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Grip) the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already Bio-Grip is a widely used for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Men, materials... and money

When a business lands an order or a contract, it's likely to go to a chartered bank to arrange some of the financing. It may need bank credit to meet payrolls to buy materials or to cover other costs that arise before it is paid.

That's why businesses both large and small can take on many jobs they would be unable to handle if they had to depend entirely on their own financial resources... And why, every day and in every part of Canada, the chartered banks are lending money to producers, manufacturers, processors and other commercial customers.

Commercial loans are only one of many banking services available at a branch of a chartered bank. You will find it a convenient banking service centre where you can attend to all your banking needs.

In about two weeks the 50 men also spend considerable time on their boats that have been money on taxis, amusements, tying up here and spending clothing and personal effects. For the past six weeks the men have been spending $100 for fuel and supplies each week end. will be fleet has been tying up at Fishermen's Wharf during the week of the 48-hour closed season period.

Each boat spends on the average about $100 for meat and groceries, and another $100 for fuel and minor repairs. The boats are mostly Vancouver-owned even though many of the men have their homes here.

The B.C. Power Commission received tenders for only one firm yesterday for intake gates for its Ladore Falls and Upper Campbell dams.

Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators of Vancouver bid $91,898 for the Ladore gates installed, and $113,947 for the Upper Campbell gates installed, or as an alternative, $204,141 for the combined jobs.

A 70,000-horsepower generating plant is to be built at the Ladore Falls dam at the foot of Lower Campbell lake, and a dam is to be built below the outlet of Upper Campbell lake to raise the level of that lake and later, Buttle lake.

Second Takes Trimming

Time's A-Wastin'
Claim Scientists

DUBLIN, Ireland (UP)—The days are growing shorter. So are the years, the minutes and the seconds.

The International Astronomical Union announced yesterday it is chopping .0000018 per cent off the second.

This trimming by about two-millionths will make the year about a minute shorter, the scientists said.

The announcement was made by H. M. Smith, a member of Britain's Royal Greenwich Observatory staff as delegates to the ninth assembly of the IAU began disbanding.

He said the reason for the change was that the second as previously defined was not uniform in length and the variations, although very small, have become important to astronomers and physicists.

He said the second was formerly calculated as a particular fraction of the mean solar day but from now on it will be calculated as a fraction of the year.

The new definition has been forwarded to the general committee for weights and measures, the international body for specifying legal units.

Runaway Balloon, Cargo
At Mercy of Elements

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Scientists sadly waved goodbye yesterday to a huge runaway balloon which has been bobbing 20 miles above the earth with a cargo of mice and guinea pigs for six days.

The balloon, shot up from Canada and faded from sight high over Lake Superior.

The air force announced that it wouldn't shoot it down, even if it gets low enough for a jet plane's guns to hit it.

That left the balloon up in the air until leakage or some other cause brings it down.

Scientists said it might take weeks for that to happen, but an advancing cool front appeared likely to wait the balloon all the way to the Atlantic ocean.

The scientists had given up hope for the 15 live mice and guinea pigs who went up with the 25-storey high balloon at International Falls.

The animals had undoubtedly died because of lack of oxygen, the scientists said.

But they wanted to get their hands on the scientific instruments in the balloon's 90-pound gondola because of the valuable data on cosmic rays which they have recorded.

The air force had ordered the tests to obtain information about the possible dangers to humans in space voyages of the future.

The gondola was supposed to have parachuted back to earth late Thursday.

It was plainly visible from Port Arthur, Ont. Observers said it looked real pretty in the sunset sky—just like a MOSCOW (AP)—Ten ambassadors drove 66 miles southwest of Moscow Tuesday on an unprecedented visit to the Soviet Union's pioneer atomic energy station.

Included in the group were envoys of Britain, the United States, Sweden, Burma, Mexico, Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania and North Viet Nam.

The atomic energy station is housed in a light yellow stucco building with one high smokestack, located in a flat rural countryside of fields and woods about a half mile from the village of Obninsk.

The Russians say the two-story structure is the world's first power plant devoted to peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Synod Hears

Lay Delegate Hurls
'Pro-Catholic' Charge

EDMONTON (CP)—Canada's immigration policy was described Tuesday at the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada as "anti-Protestant, anti-Catholic."

The statement was made in a discussion of immigration policy by lay delegate Col. T. A. Kidd of Kingston, Ont. He said two of every three persons who came to Canada were not British.

Col. Kidd added that about 250,000 persons leave Britain annually and of these only 50,000 come to Canada. The balance emigrated to South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. He urged an assistance policy to induce more Britons to come to this country.

Synod adopted a resolution requesting the federal government to provide more adequate planning for immigrants, financial assistance and to allow a greater number of immigrants from the British West Indies.

The resolution said the synod was "firmly of the opinion that a continued generous policy of immigration is both wise and necessary."

The resolution urged the federal government to strengthen the appeal to prospective settlers by "instituting more adequate planning" for their reception at ports of entry and their absorption in industry.

Canon W. W. Judd, retiring general secretary of the church's council for social services, in introducing the motion said "a great many immigrants are not adequately looked after by employment agencies."

The resolution also recommended that "specific measures of assistance" be extended to help meet passage and settlement costs of settlers from the United Kingdom.

A greater number of persons from the British West Indies should be "encouraged and permitted to settle in Canada."

Dr. Judd said no person can come to Canada from the British West Indies except by making a personal and individual application.

Prayer Book Revisions Approved

EDMONTON (CP)—The general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada Tuesday night unanimously granted general approval to the revamped version of the Canadian Anglican prayer book.

This was a major topic of discussion, both in and out of sessions at the 10-day conference. The draft version contained more changes and revisions than any prayer book revision since 1552.

The motion passed also gave authorization for its "occasional use" under the direction of bishops for "purposes of information and study."

Wins $32,000

Captain Gets Just Desserts

NEW YORK (AP)—A crew-cut U.S. marine captain with a shy grin Tuesday night won $32,000 on a television quiz show by trotting out his encyclopaedic knowledge of food and cooking.

Tall, handsome Capt. Richard McCutchen of Worthington, Ohio, knocked off a complicated five-part question about fancy desserts—what they're made of and where they originated.

Thus he qualified for a try next week at $64,000, top prize on the CBS TV show "The $64,000 Question." If he chooses, he can take his $32,000 and quit. If he tries and misses, he loses all but a consolation prize of an expensive automobile.

No contestant on the show has yet tried for $64,000. Two have won $32,000 and stopped there.

McCutchen apparently had no trouble with the $32,000 question. He was asked about these five desserts—bombe, zabaglione, olycock, flummery and pfeffernuss.

Out came the answers: Bombe originated in France, is an ice cream dish; zabaglione, Italy, a sauce made of egg yolks, sugar and wine; olycock, a fried cake.

Within a few hours after he indicated yesterday that he planned injunction proceedings, Mr. Charman said:

"I had more than 30 phone calls from Island and Vancouver people, some of them very influential citizens, and there is every possibility the matter will come before the courts."

EDMONTON (CP)—World statesmen were challenged Tuesday by the Anglican Church of Canada in ban the manufacture and use of all weapons of mass destruction.

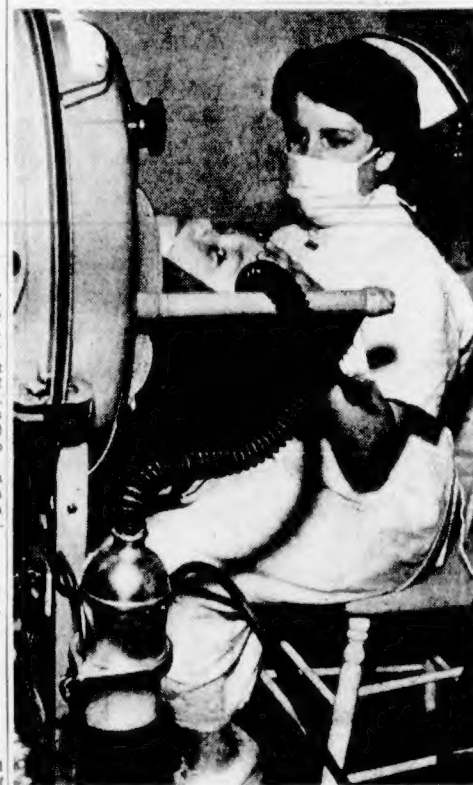

Her parents and sister, Mayor George Muir, civic and service club representatives and a host of her cheering fellow-citizens formed the reception committee.

Glenda, visibly moved by the well-wishing crowd, was accompanied from Vancouver by PNE director M. L. Barr and Mrs. Barr, the first winner to be officially escorted home.

It was one of Nanaimo's biggest welcomes.

Week-End Road Toll Set at 438

CHICAGO (AP)—At least 438 persons died in traffic accidents in the United States during the three-day Labor Day week-end, exceeding advance predictions but somewhat short of the record toll for Labor Day holiday.

An additional 80 persons were drowned and 90 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 608, also somewhat short of the record. The toll was kept from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday.

The record high of 461 traffic deaths and record over-all death toll of 658 both were set in 1951. Last year's traffic death toll was 364, far below the 1955 mark.

Lillooet By-Election

'I'll Resign if Figures on Debt Proved Wrong,' Premier Says

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Staff Reporter

BRALORNE — Premier W. A. C. Bennett promised voters last night he would resign as premier if the government's debt figures could be proved wrong.

Speaking at a meeting in this mountainside mining town to 110 people, the premier told his audience the government had reduced the net debt by $43,000,000 and it has $22,000,000 more in its sinking fund.

"If any person can challenge these figures I will resign as premier," he said.

The premier last night started his week-long speaking tour to help elect Don Robinson, Social Credit candidate, in the Lillooet by-election.

Mr. Robinson is a PGE engineer now on leave of absence. The government received only 25 first count votes out of some 400 in Bralorne in the last general election.

The premier called on the voters to elect the Social Credit candidate on the strength of the government's record and to help the Lillooet riding which he called "the most forgotten constituency in B.C."

Robert Summers also spoke at the meeting and gave the audience a full account of the forest Lands and Forest Minister management licence policy.

He Was AWL Just 27 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—William F. Lydon, 39, a frail-looking elevator operator, Monday went up to a military policeman on duty at the ferry to first army headquarters on Governor's Island and said:

"I want to give myself up. I've been AWL from the army since 1928, and now my conscience bothers me so much I've got to go in and face it."

Lydon told army officials he had enlisted in Boston in 1928 and had been assigned to Fort Scott, R.I.

One day, he said, when he had gone out on pass with other soldiers, he drank too much and overstayed his leave two days. Afterward, he said, he had no courage to go back and face army discipline.

Even if Lydon's story is correct, an army spokesman said, the statute of limitations on a peace-time desertion rules out any punishment.

"We'll have to give him a discharge, that's all," the spokesman said.

Glenda was presented with an Alaska black diamond ring by the Kiwanis Club, who sponsored her to the Miss Nanaimo crown and to the provincial final.

an isolated spot he pulled a knife on the minister and then, Hatch said: "I kept talking, asking if this way of life had brought him much money, won him many friends or proved fruitful. He seemed impressed. Finally he followed me in a little word of prayer." After this, the man suggested they drive to a police station, where he surrendered.

ROME (Reuters)—Police and firemen Tuesday began digging the Italian mountain hamlet of San Sebastiano out of mud and rubble, 20 feet deep in parts, left by swirling flood waters Monday.

Damage to San Sebastiano, 30 miles northeast of Rome, was estimated at about $1,500,000. Six hundred villagers lost their homes.

At least four persons died in the flood and another four were reported missing after a cloudburst.

Mr. Charman said: "I had more than 30 phone calls from Island and Vancouver people, some of them very influential citizens, and there is every possibility the matter will come before the courts."

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A huge, four-engine C-124 Globemaster with 68 men aboard crashed on takeoff Tuesday at Kirtland air force base and was destroyed by flames. One man was killed, one seriously injured and 67 miraculously escaped injury or suffered only minor injuries.

The air force transport, from Biggs air force base, El Paso, Tex., apparently had gone almost the full length of the runway when it skidded for several hundred feet and pancaked on the shoulders of the runway. It burst into flames almost immediately.

The passengers and crew scrambled out of the plane.

Some were given first aid treatment at the scene while firemen battled the flames.

Cieconi demurely stepped forward and presented a corsage to Glenda, the first Nanaimo girl to be judged the fairest in the province.

Nanaimo Pipe Band and scarlet-coated RCMP led a huge parade that wound its way through the city to a civic reception at the Plaza ballroom.

A Sea Cadet guard of honor escorted Glenda, who rode in state in an open convertible.

The excitement and enthusiasm even brought out the fire department, whose unit was followed in the parade of hundreds of horn-blowing private cars.

Glenda was presented with an Alaska black diamond ring by the Kiwanis Club, who sponsored her to the Miss Nanaimo crown and to the provincial final.
